What should frogs/toads be doing in summer? I have disturbed a frog/toad that was hibernating, will it be ok? I heard a frog scream, is that normal?.

Summer Unit Study: Frogs and Amphibians | Home Educators Association of Virginia

Summer evenings, particularly after a rain storm, bring a chorus of frogs and toads with an oddly pleasing harmony of bleats, rattles, trills and.

never encountered the fourth of the valley frogs, the gray tree frog, even though the Game and Fish Department guide says they are often seen on roadways on The Summer of the Frogs, humid nights. Some amphibians, usually frogs and sometimes newts, will choose to overwinter at the bottom of the pond; they bury themselves down in the silt at the bottom and take in oxygen through their skin.
